John H. McKen, Outstanding Farmer

Two women and two men were named Tuesday night Outstanding Homemakers or Outstanding Farmers in ceremonies at the University of Maine's Farm and Home Week. This is the 20th year that the University of Maine and the Maine Extension Association have honored Maine citizens for their individual contributions to the State and to their friends and neighbors.

Named Outstanding Homemakers were Eunice B. Buck, of Naples, and Zella A. Emerson, of Corinna.

Outstanding Farmers honored were John H. McKen, of West Paris, and James R. Pratt, of South Windham.

The certificates were presented by Charles E. Crossland, acting president of the University. Owen H. Smith, President of the Maine Extension Association, presided, and F. E. Blanchard, of Cumberland Center, one of last year's Outstanding Farmers, spoke briefly on the contributions made to the family, the community, and to various organizations by Maine people such as this year's award winners.

Mrs. Buck's citation read in part, "The indomitable spirit with which you have faced unusual adversities has not only guided your life...but the lives of hosts of friends whose admiration, respect and love you have won." Her contributions to many groups and organizations as a citizen, homemaker and neighbor were stated.

Mr. McKen's citation:

"The son of an early immigrant from Finland, you have made an outstanding contribution to your community, county and state and by your example and counsel have promoted industry, cooperation, education and good citizenship among your people. A firm believer in the values of education, you are a graduate of Bates College and taught school for seven years in Maine, Tennessee and Florida before returning to your home town to farm.

"You and your wife have provided a comfortable and attractive home for your son and daughter and with their interest and help have built up a large orchard and market garden business. Your orchard enterprise consists of 2,500 bearing apple trees and 600 young trees, plus 1,000 bearing peach, pear, plum and cherry trees. Much of your tree fruit is marketed along with several acres of vegetables and berries at a large attractive roadside stand. One of the first in your area to use irrigation, you also have refrigerated storage for your fruits and vegetables and modern grading and packing facilities for shipment of your products to other markets.

"Your positions of leadership which have been numerous and valuable include the following: Oxford County Commissioner; member of the State Legislature; member of local Masonic Lodge, local Grange and County Pomona Grange; member of County Extension Association Executive Committee; chairman of County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; Soil Conservation District Supervisor; and president of local Finnish National Cooperative Store.

"It is an honor for the University of Maine and a pleasure for me to present you this certificate recognizing you as an Outstanding Farmer."

Local Concentration Yard For Lumber to be

Richard Davis Project

Arrangements have been completed for a concentration yard for lumber in Bethel which will bring to the town an inventory of one to one and a half million board feet and also make a considerable increase in local employment.

Richard L. Davis has purchased the former Thurston mill property from Charles E. Merrill to provide yard room for the new project. The lumber will be the property of the Burrill Lumber Sales Corporation of Bridgeport, Conn.

The Davis part of the operation will be to sort for grade, width and trim, stack the lumber for drying, and also to plane and ship the finished product. The green lumber will be brought to this point from several sawmills in this area. It is expected that an additional three to five million feet of lumber will be handled yearly.

Addition of the Thurston land to Mr. Davis' will extend his land to the railroad and the planer mill, providing ample space and much greater convenience of operation. The yard will be started soon after the snow leaves.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

During last week the large snow-plow and grader were out on the gravel roads winging back the snow banks to provide better drainage for the melting snow which would aid in preventing washouts in case of heavy rain.

The mudhole at the entrance to the dump has been filled with gravel so that access is now more convenient to the public.

At the last meeting of the Board of Selectmen, Frederick McMillin was appointed Town Forest Fire Warden. Young Town Manager will serve as Deputy Warden, and grants for burning brush, slash, grass or rubbish may be obtained from Mr. McMillin or at the Town Office. Although it is yet early it is well to bear in mind that the law requires permits for outside fires even though there is not apparent possibility of their getting out of control.

The Bethel Fire Department and State Forest Service are currently negotiating an agreement for fire protection service in Albany and Mason. The details are not all worked out but it is currently understood that our department will take care of calls from that part of Albany nearer Bethel, and the remainder would call the Waterford Fire Department. There will be a definite line established in the near future. This agreement covers the forest fire period from April to October. During the rest of the year reimbursement is made by the county on structural fires. Just a reminder, dog licenses are due April 1st, payable to the Town Clerk.

Sincerely,

Harold L. Bean

SHOULD WE PREPARE FOR A FLOOD?

We have seldom had as cool weather as late into the spring as this year. This, combined with the winter's extra heavy snowfall gives us enough water content in the snow in this valley to equal from 9 to 12 inches of rainfall. Come of this is soaking into the ground and some has evaporated into the air.

In spite of this, either a good rain, or a few days of very warm weather, or both, could start a bigger flood than we have ever seen.

It would doubtless be wise for all who either live or have property within possible range of a big flood to make plans regarding what to do in such an emergency.

It would be nice for those living on high ground to invite any of their friends to spend a few days with them, should it be necessary, and to have a few extra groceries in the cupboard in case there is no traveling in or out of town for a few days as was the case in 1953.

Floods sometimes come fast, and either day or night. Have you a boat in readiness? Do you watch the weather reports?

The affair was planned by the personnel of the Bethel Post Office. Special guests were members of the Oxford County Rural Letter Carriers' Association.

Guests wearing name cards in the form of miniature mail boxes were seated at the table decorated for the occasion with a centerpiece of red, white, and blue flowers arranged around a replica of a mail box. with a gift from that group. Earl Davis, in behalf of the Post Office personnel, presented him with a gift and a purse of money from his many patrons was presented to him by Mrs. Floyd Colledge.

Development Corp. Reports Progress

The strong possibility of a major winter sports development for the Bethel Area within the next year aroused an unprecedented amount of enthusiasm at the first membership meeting of the Bethel Area Development Corporation held at the American Legion Hall last Thursday evening. Nearly fifty members and guests packed the meeting room to hear an explanation of the Charter and By-Laws given by Guy P. Butler, Secretary of the new corporation which was organized on February 11, and to hear and discuss the Program of Work that has been undertaken since that date.

Howard W. Cole, President, served as Chairman of the meeting, and presented a summary of all the business transacted by the Board of Directors since the Corporation was organized, and, in particular, he outlined the duties of the several committees that had been appointed by the Board in preparation for the reports that would follow. As Chairman of the Executive Committee, he reported that the Industrial Survey of the town, made by a committee of the Chamber of Commerce during 1955 and 1957, had been brought up-to-date by the B.A.D.C., and that two hundred copies had been printed for distribution to industrial prospects and public or private agencies that might be helpful in locating such prospects. He stated that more than fifty copies had already been distributed to such agencies as the Department of Economic Development, the Maine Industrial Building Authority, and the Central Maine Power Company in Augusta; Maine Central Railroad and the Maine Publicity Bureau in Portland; Boston and Maine Railroad and the New England Council in Boston; the Maine Publicity Bureau in New York City; the Canadian National Railway in Montreal; and to a list of twenty-eight Industrial Brokers.

LOCATION IS IMPORTANT FOR SUCCESSFUL VEGETABLE GARDEN

Gardeners, like actors, can waste a lot of time and energy on a poor plot—and the results will be equally disappointing, points out Robert W. Paulson, Maine Extension Service vegetable specialist.

No matter how good the seeds you buy, nor how much time and care you give them, they won't grow into fine vegetables unless they are planted in a reasonably favorable location, says Paulson.

Among those with the itch to plant and watch things grow, and those who savor the inimitable flavor of freshly picked garden goodies, not many have an ideal plot with which to work. That would be a level, well-drained, sunny spot with rich, deep, friable sandy loam soil, free from rocks and debris.

But there are a few important things that every gardener should look for in planning the location of a garden plot, Paulson explains.

One of the most important is good drainage. Vegetable plants—and most others except specially-adapted aquatic species—will drown if allowed to stand too long in water, or really wet soil. Too much moisture in a badly drained area deprives plant roots of air and nutrients needed for healthy development. Prospective gardeners would do well to observe the drainage of a spot for awhile before turning it into a vegetable garden. Presence of a green scum on the soil surface is one indication of excessive wetness.

Another important ingredient for garden success is an open space, with plenty of sunshine. Direct sunlight for at least six hours a day is a must for leafy crops like lettuce, collards, spinach, chard, and kale. Others like tomatoes, eggplant, peppers, and lima beans will need more than that. Trees not only give shade, but their roots compete for moisture and nutrients.

One more important consideration in choosing a location is a source of water supply. A garden hose a few lengths of temporary piping will afford protection against the frequent summer droughts than can cut a garden's production to practically nil.

Generally speaking, a soil that is well drained and produces a rank, quick growth of weeds or

APRIL IS AUTOMOBILE INSPECTION MONTH

Secretary of State Harold I. Goss has reminded Maine motorists that April is automobile inspection month in the state of Maine.

"Maine's semi-annual inspection law sets aside the months of April and October as motor vehicle inspection periods," said Mr. Goss. "Failure to display an official inspection sticker on the first day of the months immediately following these inspection periods makes car operators liable by law."

The Secretary of State advised car owners to take care of this legal obligation early in April in order to avoid the last minute standing in line which takes place the last two or three days of the month.

grass can probably be developed into a good garden plot, adds the Extension vegetable specialist. He offers Maine residents copies of Bulletin 418, "Home Gardening in Maine." County agents have this bulletin available for distribution as does the Bulletin Office, Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono.

MAN'S RECIPE

BLANCHES CHEESE MUFFINS
So far as my research goes, the first real cheese muffin in America was made in 1800 in Wisconsin. Other Swiss families in Wisconsin began to build cheese factories and today third and fourth generations are carrying on.

If you have not absorbed your new information for today, you may want to know that at present some 600 varieties of cheese are made in the United States. So far as I know, only two well-known cheeses have been originated in this country. The Liederkant and the Colby. About three fourths of all the cheese made in the nation is the cheddar, sometimes called "cheddar" cheese. Cheddar was named for a small English village near Bristol. For many generations after the first cows were imported to Plymouth, Mass., in 1724, home cheese making was regular work on the farm.

A hot cheese muffin with just the right degree of flavor goes mighty well with a supper casserole. I like this muffin when it's baked up the next morning in the oven—crisp and crunchy. You need one egg beaten, two tablespoons sugar, one fourth to one third cup cheddar cheese put through the food grinder, one half cup milk, one cup flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons melted butter or margarine.

To the beaten egg add the sugar, cheese and milk. Mix these well. Add the flour with the baking powder and salt, and mix everything. Last, add the melted butter or margarine and blend all thoroughly.

Fill greased muffin tins two thirds full. Bake at 400 for 15-20 minutes or until done.

AREA DEVELOPMENT CORP.
REPORTS PROGRESS

In the New York Area which was obtained from the Dept. of Economic Development at Augusta. He concluded his report with a note that all of these presentations had been made through personal calls or personal letters to the recipients; and that, in addition, seventeen personal letters had been mailed to a list of top flight business executives who had visited Bethel last year during an 1957 Conference, offering to send each of them a copy of the Industrial Brochure, if they would be interested in receiving it.

Edward J. Vachon, Chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Corporation, reported that two very likely looking prospects had already been interviewed by the Committee, but stated that neither could be named at the moment on the specific requests of the prospects, themselves. He carefully explained to all present that, in most cases, an industry that is considering a move to another location, or an expansion of its present facilities, has serious objection to any public knowledge of its plans until they are completed.

Hubert Ames, representing Dr. John W. Trivard, Chairman of the Membership Committee, reported that, as of March 27, the Corporation had 78 Active Members, 3 Associate and 3 Honorary Members, for a total of 84 since its inception on February 11; and he expressed the hope that quite a few more interested citizens of the Bethel Area would become members during the next few weeks.

The report that nearly "stole the show" however, was made by Addison C. Saunders, for the Winter Business Committee, of which Murray W. Thurston is Chairman. Mr. Saunders explained that the Committee had been appointed to study ways and means of improving business conditions during the winter months in the Bethel Area, and stated that the group was unanimous in its opinion that a major development in close proximity to Bethel would solve a lot of problems for the community. He cited the tremendous upsurge of business activity in several New England towns that have been blessed with such developments, and expressed the opinion that Bethel could very well get its share of the "snow dollars" that are being spread around every winter in rapidly increasing volume.

He then told how members of the Committee, and other volunteers, had made an exhaustive study of the area, and had finally discovered an excellent location just a few miles from the center of the town that could be developed into a ski area that would rank very high in terrain, snow cover, and accessibility when compared with other major developments in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont. To back up the contention on this score, he displayed some excellent colored slides of the mountains. In concluding his report, Mr. Saunders stated that the Board of Directors of BADC had authorized the Committee to expedite options for the lease or purchase of the land that would be involved in such a project, this being a very necessary first step to any effort the Corporation might put forth to find a suitable developer or to organize a separate business corporation right here in the Bethel Area that would build and operate a satisfactory ski slope.

It was no great surprise to anyone present that Mr. Saunders' report caused quite a lengthy discussion, and the enthusiasm which is evidenced far exceeded the formal topics of the committee members and others who had been actively doing the groundwork on the project during the past five or six weeks.

Finally, after a full hour of discussion, Mr. Cline announced that a public meeting would be sponsored by the BADC just as soon as possible after the final options are secured in order that every interested party in the area might have a chance to participate in a discussion of ways and means for accomplishing the goals so ably outlined by the Winter Business Committee.

The first general meeting of the Corporation scheduled on an advisory basis of opinion for the future of the Bethel Area and today favorable comments on the work already done by the officers and directors in the short time in which it has been functioning.

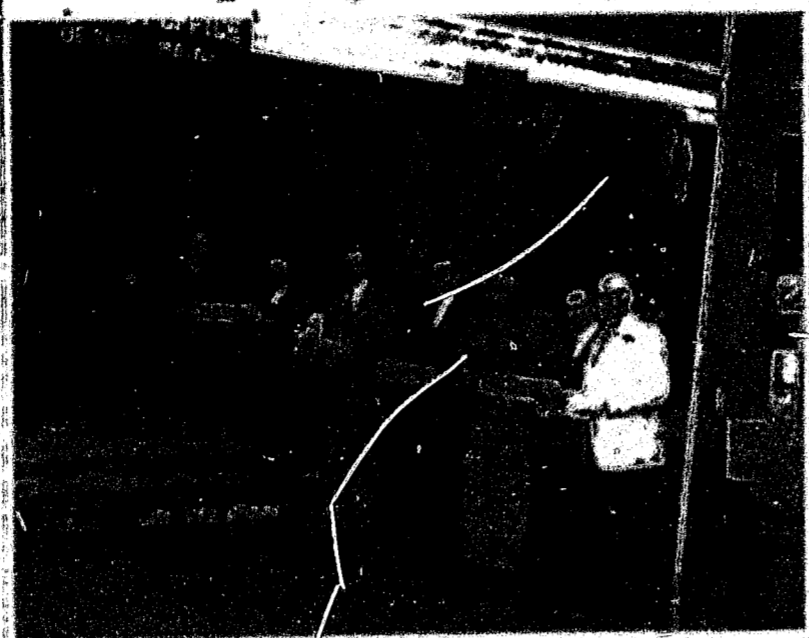

These pleasant activities are taking place so far they have resulted in the death of one dog and one live cat changing times.

Inn's Spring Mailing Goes

Nearly 600 personal letters and over 6500 spring announcements have been mailed from Bethel during the past week inviting 7,000 former and prospective guests to visit the Bethel Inn during the 1958 vacation season. It was revealed to day by Dorothy and Guy Butler, owner-operators of the "Gem of New England Inns."

In recognition of the importance of the vacation-travel business to the Town of Bethel, the group shown in the above photo gathered at the local Post Office on Tuesday of this week to make certain that all of these invitations were properly mailed. In the picture, from left to right, are: Miss Ida M. Packard, Postmaster; Edmond J. Vachon, President of the Bethel Savings Bank; Howard W. Cole, President of the Bethel Area Development Corporation; Dr. John W. Trivard, President of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce; Addison C. Saunders, Bethel Representative to the State Legislature; Harold L. Bean, Town Manager; and Guy P. Butler of the Bethel Inn.

Our enquiring reporter discovered, with a little arm-twisting, that preparation for this annual mailing keeps three people fairly busy for a considerable part of the winter, and that Mrs. Harlan Hutchins is just as happy as Mr. and Mrs. Butler when the job is finished because she takes all the dictation and individually types each and every one of these personal letters.

Actually, Guy Butler says, the job starts in November or December just as soon as the addressing of several thousand Christmas cards is done. The first step is a careful screening of the entire mailing list to determine which guests should receive personal letters. This year, there were nearly 600 of these, and it was necessary to start the dictation and typing early in January in order to be certain that they would be ready for mailing on March 20.

At about the same time, the addressing of the envelopes for the
